For a while, I have been preparing for this step. This blog got its audio podcast show and it is called Inspiratron talks. First I will give some links and then talk about mission and vision of the podcast. Inspiratron talks is hosted at the moment on SoundCloud:

At the moment, two episodes can be found. However, I am hoping to release one episode per week during the season, however, there may be some breaks around the Christmas and during the summer.

You can listen to podcasts using the following Podcast directories:

www.stitcher.com/podcast/inspiratron-talks?refid=stpr

I have submitted also to Spotify, however, I am still waiting to hear from them.

Now, let's move to the vision. As you may know, the main topics on Inspiratron are Artificial Intelligence, Machine learning, and cybersecurity. That remains the same for Inspiratron talks. They will be covering different aspects of these topics. In the first episode, I have outlined the goals and topics I will be talking about on them. At the moment, Inspiratron talks will be in form of 30-40 minutes voice lectures, given by me. However, in future, we may start calling some guests and have a bit more broad and dynamic set of topics and things going on the podcast. It is also possible that at some point I will start doing youtube podcasts, however, for now, it will remain voice only. At the moment, there will be several lectures about history of the fields that were mentioned and then we will move into particulars, review events, books and people from the fields.

I would encourage readers and listeners to contact me and recommend topics or speakers, even themselves to be invited on show. I can assure you that all messages will reach me, even if they are not replied to on a certain point.

You can contact me either via comments here, using contact page, email me, or using my Twitter account, which is @dreadknight011 (feel free to follow me). Also, you can use my LinkedIn to contact me.

If you like the podcast, you can financially support it over Patreon: www.patreon.com/inspiratron?alert=2

I hope you will enjoy it.
